

Slide #4 – Operational Reflection: Funding Adaptive Recovery Before Outcome Expectations Harden (How might ‘Cant’ be influencing your operations)

Where within your environment has visible operational success begun quietly reshaping the conditions that originally made the effort effective?

What assumptions currently define “successful growth” – and which adaptive realities remain difficult to measure within those structures?

Have recovery-oriented initiatives within your environment become increasingly evaluated through utilization visibility rather than long-horizon resilience conditions?

Patterns & Experiences

Where might ‘Cant’ already be surfacing through?

- compressed pacing,
- reporting simplification,
- expansion pressure,
- or the normalization of operational accommodation?
